All-Out U.N. Drive Pushes Past 38th

Drive Officially 'All Out' As Allies Sweep Across Old Border

TOKYO (AP)—Allied tanks and troops today slashed across the 38th parallel at two more points in their officially-designated all-out offensive to hunt down the battered and retreating Communists.

The new crossings kept up the pressure on the Reds, who already were battling an Allied spearhead now thrust four miles into North Korea on the east-central front.

Field dispatches said the new crossings were made on the western front north of Seoul and on the central front northeast of Chunchon. Both these tank-infantry teams withdrew to South Korea by nightfall.

"The 38th Parallel means nothing to me," said Lt. Gen. James A. Van Fleet, commander of the U.S. 8th Army.

He showed he meant it by crossing into North Korea himself. Van Fleet visited a tank and infantry task force. It was sitting solidly as a huge road block north of the border astride the Reds' escape route from the east-central front. He said his army's tactics of pursuing the Reds into their own territory was a gamble but it was paying off.

"The 8th Army is in an all-out offensive," Van Fleet said. "Considerable progress has been made."

Field dispatches told of open flight of Chinese toward the 38th Parallel from some fronts, while they fought stubbornly on others. The pursuing 8th Army, Van Fleet said, will "not be limited by such barriers as the 38th Parallel in chasing them down."

"It looks like the pursuit tactics are working well," Van Fleet said. "There will be no technical limit on running down the Reds. The 8th Army will go wherever the situation dictates in net pursuit of the enemy."

Exploit Every Advantage

"We intend to exploit every advantage in carrying out our objective to find and kill the enemy."

The whole United Nations line was moving forward at the beginning of the 12th month of the Korean war. Solid gains of two to six miles were punched out Thursday.

The Reds backed up fast. But they left rearwards who fought bitterly to slow the Allied advance. Infantry and artillery with the task force seized the Choyang River crossing near Inje and dug in on both sides after a dramatic 13-mile drive.

The action split the Chinese armies and forced shattered remnants of Red forces to take to mountain trails.

Planes battered retreating Chinese and North Koreans around the clock on all roads leading north. They reported 50 trucks were knocked out during the night by flare-dropping planes.

Nineteen American prisoners of war—18 marines and one soldier—were rescued in that city where Chinese in hasty flight had abandoned them.

'HAPPY WARRIOR'—BUT LITERALLY

Mahony, V.C., Gets To Fighting Unit After Years Of Trying

By DOUGLAS HOW

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada's stowaway V.C. is back where he's pined to be for seven restless years—back with the infantry.

The army headquarters today said Lt. Col. John K. Mahony, 39, V.C., has been named to command one of the three infantry battalions in the new 27th Brigade.

The quiet, solid Irishman from New Westminster, B.C., is undoubtedly the happiest man in the army. For he's been struggling for years against the "penalty" that says a V.C. can't fight again.

There's one blot on the happiness of this man who neither smokes nor drinks nor utters strong profanity, this antithesis of the flamboyant, swashbuckler of military romance—the 1st Canadian Infantry Battalion doesn't include a company from his own Westminster Regiment.

Otherwise he would be as happy as army regulations allow a soldier. He might even go out and have a drink or smoke. Here's why:

Seven years ago this month he won the V.C. by holding a bridgehead over the Mefta River in Italy against heavy odds. He was wounded three times, but he and his company and a few armored corps men without armor saved the victory gained a few hours before in the costly breaching of the Hitler Line.

Those were the greatest 24 hours in Jack Mahony's life.

They became the cause of some of his worst frustrations.

His V.C. was awarded a month or so later. The 5th Division's commander, Maj. Gen. Bert Hoffmeister, came to the Westminster's rest area and told him without formality and Mahony stood there, quaking and thinking somebody was pulling an enormous joke. For weeks he woke up at night in a sweat from an impossible dream—that he had won the V.C.

The King came to Italy and made the formal presentation before the entire 5th Division. Mahony nearly collapsed from nervousness. It didn't help, he once said, to see that the King was almost as nervous.

"Where are you going?" asked Triquet. "Back to my unit," said Mahony. "That's what you think," said Triquet.

Triquet was right. But Mahony wasn't licked. He put in a few restless days and then he vanished from the reinforcement depot—went A.W.L. for the first time in his life. He stowed away aboard a truck heading for the front.

When they got into the rear echelon area several days later, he heard queries being made about a missing Maj. Mahony. He slipped away and got all the way up to his unit.

He was sent back but repeatedly "ran away" to his unit until he was finally paraded before Gen. Hoffmeister and sent clean back to Canada.

Staying with the army after the war he worked first with cadets then as director of public relations but he hates the job. He wanted to be with the infantry.

Now, at last, he's got his wish.

ARMY CHIEF CONVINCED RUSSIAN PILOTS IN WAR

WASHINGTON (AP)—Gen. J. Lawton Collins said today "we are quite convinced" that Russians are flying some of the Communist planes in Korea.

Collins, U.S. Army Chief of Staff, also said the equipment captured from the Chinese Reds is "mostly Russian."

Collins was testifying at the Senate inquiry into foreign policy and the dismissal of Gen. MacArthur.

At one point after 220 words of the transcript had been deleted by the censor, Collins said:

"Now, one of the British brigades was thrown in and did a perfectly magnificent job in holding that breach, while Gen. Van Fleet shifted his reserves in order to contain this penetration."

Says MacArthur Violated Orders By Drive To Yalu

WASHINGTON (AP)—Gen. J. Lawton Collins testified today that Gen. MacArthur violated military orders by sending United States troops to the Yalu River, marking the border between Manchuria and Korea.

Collins, army chief of staff, made that contention to senators inquiring into MacArthur's dismissal and told them also that he had thought it might be necessary to remove MacArthur even before he learned President Truman was considering it.

As to sending U.S. troops to the border, Collins said:

"When we asked him, challenging his doing this, he said he did it because of military necessity."

By "we," Collins meant himself and the other members of the Joint Chiefs of Staff—the top military command in Washington.

Collins said the joint chiefs "did not countermand" MacArthur on the troops since "the action had already been taken."

But he called it "a specific example" of a violation of military order.

Presumably Collins referred to the November, 1950, offensive which drove to the banks of the Yalu. The transcript of his testimony gave no date.

First eyewitness reports of the collision were given here today with the arrival of the French rescue frigate L'Adventure.

The frigate's captain, Jean Blanchard of the French navy, gave details of the collision 100 miles southeast of Cape Race.

The captain said the trawler Ginette Le Borgne of France, was rammed broadside by the trawler Jacques Coeur.

Le Borgne was sent to the bottom with a crushed hull.

The French Consulate estimated Le Borgne's crew at between 55 and 58 men.

TORONTO (CP)—The crushed body of 12-year-old Barbara Tun-tindown was found today under six feet of clay—part of a landslide that trapped her yesterday on the beach below Scarborough Bluffs on Toronto's eastern outskirts.

Police and firemen from the 200-man crew which had dug for hours said she apparently tried to run out into Lake Ontario to escape the landslide.

About 100 tons of clay had broken almost every bone in her body. She was found face down with her arms thrown over her head in a vain attempt at protection.

"Where are you going?" asked Triquet.

Festival Spirit Wins Out Over Rain And Wind

Celebration Hailed 'One Of Finest Ever'

Inclement weather tried hard to steal Victoria's May 24 celebrations spotlight from May Queen Betty Dolman but it had to take a back seat after all.

Rain and wind in large, uncomfortable doses came at the outset, and it looked for a time as though the storm would halt various events of the day.

But the festival spirit and sun shone through, and members of the Greater Victoria Celebrations Committee said today the 1951 "fiesta" will go down in the records as one of the best yet.

For Other News of Festivities See Pages 5, 6, 7, 11 and 15.

The rain came during the morning parade and although spirits were dampened, the procession drew crowds estimated by officials at between 30,000 and 35,000.

A total of 12 of an inch fell from 3.15 in the morning to 11.46, which is more rain than a Victoria Day celebration as had for many years. Last May 24 when there was more—3 of an inch—was in 1942, but there was no festival that year because of the war.

There were traces of the war in 1948 and 1939 for the celebrations, but nothing like this year's downpour.

Bomb Thrown; Life Of King Threatened

Dublin Embassy Blasted

DUBLIN (Reuters)—Police searched the back streets of Dublin today for two men who tossed a bomb at the British Embassy Thursday night and left leaflets threatening the lives of the King and Queen.

General opinion in Dublin is that the men are attached to remnants of the outlawed Irish Republican Army. But one police official was reported as saying: "We have no doubt there is Communist influence involved in this."

The leaflets left on the steps of the Embassy declared: "The English King and Queen visit Ireland at the peril of their lives." The Royal couple were due to visit Belfast, Northern Ireland, June 1 and stay there four days.

Thursday night's bomb, thrown into the basement of the Embassy here, did little damage. Fleeing from police, one of the men fired a shot.

Bout Of 'Flu' Confines King To His Room

LONDON (Reuters)—The King was confined to his room at Buckingham Palace today with a mild attack of influenza.

Princess Elizabeth is taking his place at two public ceremonies today and tomorrow.

These are the presentation of new colors to the 3rd Battalion Grenadier Guards at Buckingham Palace this morning and the presentation of the King's colors to the R.A.F. in London's Hyde Park tomorrow.

The King was visited by his doctors this morning but no bulletin was issued.

The King was last confined to his room in March when he was suffering from a feverish chill.

Earlier this month, he had a vacation at Balmoral, Scotland, with Queen Elizabeth and Princess Margaret.

There was no official confirmation of reports that the vacation had special significance with regard to the King's health or that he flew to Balmoral so that he could rest his right leg on which he had an operation two years ago.

During the dedication service to the Festival of Britain May 3, observers commented on his drawn appearance. His duties at the festival and during the visit of King Frederick and Queen Ingrid of Denmark made one of the most strenuous periods of his reign.

The King's health was reported to be standing up well, but two weeks ago it was understood he had been advised to rest before his visit to Northern Ireland at the end of May.

Death toll in yesterday's collision between two French fishing trawlers on foggy Grand Banks was set at 12 in official reports today.

The reports came from a rescue ship which arrived here and from the trawler's owners.

PEARSON WANTS FORCE TO MEET ALL AGGRESSION

OTTAWA (CP)—External Affairs Minister Pearson said today steps should be taken to establish a United Nations military force ready to take the field wherever aggression occurs.

Continuing testimony before the external affairs committee, Mr. Pearson said a committee of United Nations is considering establishment of such a force.

His statements were made after Howard Green (P.C.-Vancouver Quadra) asked why only 17 of the 53 countries which voted to oppose aggression in Korea had sent fighting troops.

Mr. Pearson said he could not say why. But many countries which did not send troops helped in other ways. Some countries felt they were so threatened with aggression themselves that they could not weaken themselves by sending troops to Korea.

Mr. Pearson said he believes some countries offered troops, but the offers were not accepted.

6 C.N.R. WORKERS DIE IN COLLISION

Freight And Ballast Trains Crash Head-On Derailing Engines, 9 Cars; Traffic Held Up

PARENT, Que. (CP)—Six Canadian National Railways' employees died Thursday in a rail collision in this remote northwestern Quebec district. Five others were injured.

The head-on collision between a freight train and a ballast train occurred on the Quebec-Cochrane, Ont., line at a point between Dix and Langlade stations.

The two men engine crews on both trains were killed in their cabs when the two trains met about 2.15 p.m. E.D.T., 335 miles from Quebec.

Two other workers aboard the heavily-laden ballast train also died.

A C.N.R. list of dead, completed today, gave these names: B. L. Robert, J. P. Grosblous, H. Stafford, Simeon Chretien, L. Desjardins and Henri-Louis Bolduc, all of Quebec province.

Two of the injured were taken by plane and ambulance to Val D'Or, in the gold mining district to the south.

Others injured were due to be taken by train eastward to La-tuque.

The two locomotives derailed after crashing together and a flat car in the ballast train was driven up on top of the engines trapping the engine crews.

Fire swept through the coal tenders and burned several hours. The other two victims were crushed.

Nine cars—five on the freight train and four on the ballast train—left the tracks.

The accident disrupted communications and hampered identification of the dead and recovery of the bodies.

The tug Betty Lou was holed at Val D'Or. It is not known how many were aboard, but all were taken off by the tug Kathleen of Nanaimo. The tug was beached.

Commanders Named For Canadian Korea Brigade

OTTAWA (CP)—Brig. Geoffrey Walsh, C.B.E., D.S.O., of Brantford and St. Catharines, Ont., a 41-year-old engineer whose army career has taken him from Spitzbergen to China, was named today to command Canada's new 27th Brigade group and direct its preparations to serve in Europe or elsewhere.

The army announced, too, that the only Victoria Cross winner to stay in the regular forces after the war—Lt. Col. John K. Mahony, 39, of New Westminster, B.C.—will command one of the three infantry battalions.

Other battalion commanders are:

Lt. Col. Richard L. Rutherford, O.B.E., 35, of Vancouver and Kingston, Ont., married with one child. He led a company of the Queen's Own Cameron Highlanders in the early stages of the northwest European campaign in 1945.

Lt. Col. Edward W. Cutbill, D.S.O., 38, of Niagara Falls, Ont., and Hamilton, married, who served in the North African, Sicilian and European theatres in the last war. He will command the 1st Canadian Rifle Battalion. Col. Cutbill was Canadian military attaché in Poland until a year ago.

Lt. Col. Marcellain L. Lahaye, D.S.O., 37, of Buckingham, Que., married and one of four brothers still serving in the army. He campaigned in France, Holland and Germany in the last war. He will command the 69th Field Regiment, R.C.H.A., the artillery unit.

ONE WOMAN'S DAY

By NANCY HODGES

RUINS FOR REMEMBRANCE

LONDON—If you happen to be a Londoner by birth and upbringing, as I am, you don't have to spend many days in this old metropolis to realize what a toll the blitz imposed upon it. I have been shocked at the number of once-familiar landmarks that are missing. Great gaps appear in the West End, gaunt walls or giant hoardings hiding the razed shops and houses. Yet the century-old Tudor houses in Holborn escaped unscathed.

But it was when we went out to St. Paul's Cathedral that the full force of the price that London paid for "sticking it out" from 1939 to 1945 came home to me. For blocks and blocks around that magnificent cathedral, charred and blackened walls and exposed foundations tell the story of Hitler's devilry.

CHURCHES RAZED

TO ANYONE knowing that densely-congested area before the war, the sight is appalling. And it doesn't require much imagination to picture how much more horrifying it must have been when the bombs were falling and the fires were blazing on those terrible nights in 1941, nor how shocking it must have looked before the rubble and the debris, the acres of broken glass and fallen masonry were cleared away, as they are today.

But it is the strange toll taken of the many churches in that area which most amazed me. In the immediate vicinity of St. Paul's I saw six or seven fine old edifices gutted, roofless and with only the outer shell still standing.

DESIGNED BY WREN

MANY OF THEM were designed by Sir Christopher Wren, the great architect who rebuilt the city churches after the Great Fire of London in 1666—and anyone seeing them today cannot help but feel that here history has indeed repeated itself.

To mention but a few of them, St. Bride's, Fleet Street, St. Stephen's, Wallbrook, Christ Church, Newgate, all were victims of the hell which rained from the sky just 10 years ago—on May 10, 1941—when, in addition, 54 major public buildings were damaged, more than 200 fires reported, and 1,436 people killed and 1,792 injured.

SYSTEMATIC SEARCH

WANDERING around, I got the impression that the Nazis must have systematically searched out the city churches for destruction. For, huddled as they were in the midst of mercantile and other buildings, many of which escaped, the churches were left with only blackened walls as reminders of what they once were. Yet St. Paul's, that great edifice, escaped with comparatively little damage.

Of course, great blocks of other buildings were devastated, too—reduced to mere foundations, going deep into the earth, in which the winter's rain has left permanent pools in many cases. In other cases whole buildings were wiped out with the exception of a small segment, so that you see tall, narrow places standing, with just one room on top of another for four storeys—looking like a slice left from a whole cake.

NATURE'S HEALING

BUT WHILE Londoners licked their wounds and went on with the job immediately after those raids, Nature has also taken a hand in healing the scars. To me it was inexpressibly touching to see wild flowers and weeds clothing the ruins with their verdure, or with yellow daisies peeping out of the rubble of a chimney standing starkly among the blackened walls. For the first time for years—perhaps centuries—Londoners living within the City limits have seen wild flowers growing within its precincts.

GARDEN OF REMEMBRANCE

OUT OF EVIL cometh good, it has been said. And one compensation for the damage done in the area of St. Paul's is that it has opened up a vista which permits the full beauty of that superb edifice to be appreciated.

And yesterday the Lord Mayor, assisted by the Dean of St. Paul's, formally opened the lovely formal garden which has been laid out in the shadow of the cathedral, thus preserving for posterity the view that was opened up by enemy action, and adding color and peacefulness to one of London's busiest spots.

RESURGAM

THE PAVED WALK at the northern end of the garden marks the spot on which Old Change, that ancient city street, stood prior to 1941.

As we came away, I understood anew why so many Londoners feel that some of the ruined churches and other old buildings should be left as a reminder of what Britain suffered in the cause of right. And I also understood the spirit which, at the same time, is ready to rebuild anew on the ashes of the past. For this is merely the recrudescence of the spirit of "Resurgam" (I shall rise again), the word inscribed on a fragment of Cathedral stone picked up after the fire of London in 1666.

DEMON RUM PROVES DEADLY

Responsible For One Fourth Of Violent Deaths In Survey

CHICAGO (AP)—A one-year survey indicated today that alcohol is a "contributing or responsible factor" in more than one-fourth of the most common forms of non-industrial violent deaths that occur in a typical United States community.

The finding was made by three doctors from the office of Medical Examiner, Department of Laboratories and Research, Westchester County, New York.

They examined for traces of alcohol the livers and brains of 246 consecutive victims of violent deaths in the county in 1949.

They found that alcohol was the responsible or contributing factor in 68 (27 per cent) of the fatalities.

The study showed: of 78 traffic fatalities, 36 of the victims had consumed alcohol; of 78 suicides, 15 of the fatalities were under the influence of alcohol; of 82 non-industrial accidental deaths, 20 showed traces of alcohol; of eight homicides, seven were under various stages of intoxication.

The doctors said the persons responsible for seven of the homicides also were under the influence of alcohol.

SENATE DROPS REFORM

Urge Short-Term Seat

OTTAWA (CP)—The Senate Wednesday ended a three-month debate on reform, but it may be revived next session.

Discussion came to a halt after Senator Wishart, Robertson, Government leader, received unanimous consent to withdraw a motion which started the debate last February. More than 30 Senators spoke for and against various reforms of the 102-member Upper House. Many were against any change, taking the stand the Senate was doing its job as a semi-judicial "house of sober second thought" the Fathers of Confederation intended it to be.

But there were suggestions for a short-term rather than life appointments, suggestions of retirement on pension at 75, of a plan to increase the strength of the Progressive Conservative opposition which now numbers 10 compared to 79 Liberals. Some suggested the provinces should have a say in Senate appointments.

The 60-year-old government leader, only recently returned to duty following a serious illness, indicated he did not feel equal to going ahead with establishment of a committee to study reform at this time. But his own view had not changed.

Canadian Doctors Urged To Speed Up Own Plans

Alternative To Government-Run State Health Advocated By C.M.A. President Immediately

TORONTO (CP)—The president of the Canadian Medical Association said today that Canadian doctors must continue their efforts to develop their alternative to a government-run national health plan.

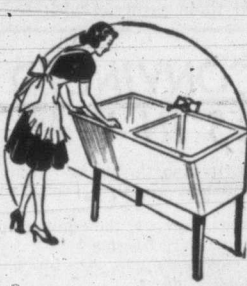

Dr. Norman H. Gosse, of Halifax, said patient, doctor and the national economy would suffer under a government plan such as that in effect in Britain.

He told the Ontario Medical Association that he favors co-operation between citizens, doctors and governments in developing health plans. He said the Canadian Medical Association believes citizens should pay their own contributions if able to do so, with governments bearing the cost for persons unable to contribute.

Dr. Gosse mentioned two long steps already taken toward providing medical care for all Canadians.

The first was the rapid growth of doctor-sponsored plans for prepaid medical care which now cover more than 1,250,000 Canadians. The second was the experience of several provincial medical associations in providing medical care to pensioners and indigents.

FETE DRAWS PRAISE

The winds handicapped the night fireworks display somewhat, but like all of the other events of the day, large crowds were on hand with applause for the show provided.

Victorians were praised by City Clerk Frank Hunter, who was chairman of the celebrations committee this year.

The "wonderful spirit" of the people was payment in full for the hard work and effort of the men, women and children who arranged and took part in the festival.

Typical co-operative spirit during the rain-hit parade was seen in the assembly area on Pembroke Street where a band huddled in the shelter of a tree. When the musicians saw a marching unit coming near without any drum beat to drown out the raindrops, they whipped out their instruments and "gave" with a martial air.

Mr. Hunter said attendance of close to 5,000 persons at the pageant at Royal Athletic Park Wednesday evening helped put the celebrations "over the top" financially.

Mayor Percy George said he was particularly impressed with the "absence of any complaints" in this year's festival.

Mayor Cites 'Co-Operation'

"The way in which people participated was most satisfying," said the mayor, "Organizations and industries responded willingly and open-handedly. Marching in the parade went the full distance despite the weather."

The new car the celebrations committee is giving away on the sale of associate membership tickets this year will have its new owner soon. Monday has been set as the deadline for receipt of ticket stubs after which a meeting of the members will be called and the lucky winner will be chosen.

Members of the St. John Ambulance Brigade, the Boy Scouts and the Girl Guides played tiring but appreciated roles in the events of the day.

Grim Warning By Bradley To Senate Probe

WASHINGTON (AP)—Gen. Omar N. Bradley wound up his testimony in the MacArthur hearings Thursday, leaving this grim warning: The United States and its North Atlantic treaty allies could not stop a Russian aggression at this time.

"It may be," the chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff added, "that right at this moment we do have more diplomatic commitments than we can carry out militarily."

But he stressed that this is no reason for the U.S. to back out of any commitments. On the contrary, the U.S. should work for a build-up of western military strength to the point where it could halt a Russian attack.

In his final hours of testimony, Bradley said he agreed "from a military point of view" that President Truman was right in firing MacArthur. He admitted the method of removing him "probably could have been handled better."

And he agreed with MacArthur that the question of admitting Communist China to the United Nations should not be considered in negotiating settlement of the Korean war.

Bradley disclosed that casualties among U.S. forces in Korea total 141,955, more than twice the number reported by the Defence Department three days ago. The earlier figure did not include non-battle casualties.

He made it plain that he is firmly opposed to letting the Korean war "drag on indefinitely."

They included the blast and heat effects on "structures, aircraft and various other items" as well as measurement of radiation from the weapons.

The announcement said in part:

Information obtained from research on nuclear detonations, the major purpose of the tests, is secret. In furtherance of the President's announcement of January 31, 1951, the test program included experiments contributing to thermonuclear weapons research.

"Information on several projects in fields of biology, medicine and radiology will be declassified and provided to appropriate agencies of the government when results have been analyzed and evaluated."

The Absurdities Of Divorce

THE CANADIAN PARLIAMENT HAS lately renewed its protest against the anachronism of the Canadian divorce law. What immediately concerns Parliament is the lack of divorce courts in Quebec and Newfoundland where people, if they desire a divorce, must come to Ottawa and secure the passage of a Parliamentary act. This, as everyone knows, is a ridiculous business, wasteful of Parliament's time and the petitioner's money.

It is almost incredible that a committee of the Senate (which has taken over this weary chore from the Commons) spends many days and weeks considering whether some man and his wife should be divorced. When the Senate has passed an act divorcing such people it must go to the Commons and the Commons usually passes it without consideration, trusting the Senate's judgment. To protest this absurdity members of the Opposition recently contrived a mild filibuster, holding up each divorce act, delaying the public business and demanding a better system.

It is easy to say, as The Vancouver Sun said the other day, that if Quebec and Newfoundland people want divorces they should force their provincial legislatures to pass divorce laws. Unfortunately, the small minority of persons desiring divorces cannot compel the legislatures to facilitate them.

If Parliament refuses to pass an act in each case of justified divorce the petitioners are left with no remedy at all. They may have proved beyond doubt that a divorce is justified but, without an act of Parliament, they cannot obtain it. Until the Quebec and Newfoundland legislatures change the law there is no remedy for broken marriages there, except by the solemn intervention of Parliament.

This is not the only defect in Canadian divorce laws. Even in the eight provinces where the courts grant divorces the grounds of divorce are more limited than in most countries, including Britain. There is no desire for the frivolous grounds recognized in some of the neighboring states. But a British Columbia woman, for example, cannot obtain a divorce from a husband who is hopelessly insane, or is spending a life sentence in jail, or has long deserted her or is suffering from venereal disease. The sole ground of divorce in Canada is adultery, though countries like Britain have long since abandoned this medieval restriction.

The result inevitably is a general and tacitly accepted disregard of the divorce law. A large proportion of the divorces now granted are arranged by the familiar and disagreeable methods of collusion—the hired co-respondent, the hotel bedroom and the private detective. The courts try to detect and prevent such collusion but frequently cannot, and it is only by a legal fiction that many people richly entitled to divorces can get them. In this matter we are perhaps the most backward of all nations.

Russia Steals A March

COMMUNISM, AS DISTINCT FROM aggression, can be defeated, says Mr. L. B. Pearson, only by "economic, social, political and moral weapons." The purpose of the Commonwealth's Colombo Plan of investment in southeast Asia was to forge such weapons, to demonstrate to peaceful Asiatic peoples that the west was ready to assist them in raising their standard of living as it was ready to fight aggressors. But the weapons of Colombo are proving very slow in action.

It will not do to say, as many do, that the program of western investment in the basic industry of southeast Asia must be on a long-term basis. While this is true, it is essential to get the program under way before the Asiatics, and especially the Indians, lose faith in it altogether.

The Russians have not delayed as we have. They cannot offer Asia the tools of industry, being short themselves, but they are offering food, the stuff of survival. Certainly it is offered at a price, it must be paid for in cash or the equivalent in goods, but food at any price looks good to a famished India. And the Russians, as usual, will find means to make themselves appear as India's only friend if we delay our western aid.

The long-postponed Colombo plan is not intended to relieve famine now but to build up industries which will feed the Asiatics later on. A separate plan of immediate famine relief, framed by the United States Government, has been held up for months in Congress while the Russians quietly arranged to ship wheat to India. In the war of ideas which Mr. Pearson has in mind this could be a tragic defeat for the west. Canada has no first-class wheat to offer until the next crop comes in and India prefers to wait until it is available.

Meanwhile the Colombo Plan is stalled while the Commonwealth nations hopelessly seek an American contribution to it and the Truman Government hesitates to ask such a contribution from a hostile and confused Congress. Though the Plan was tacitly based on an American contribution, though it will be much smaller than the Commonwealth had hoped without American money, a beginning cannot be delayed much longer without grave damage to the reputation of the west in Asia.

After a tour around the world, Mr. Blair Fraser, of Maclean's Magazine, recently returned to say bluntly that the west lacks a single friend in Asia. This is not all our fault. The Asiatics, and particularly the Indians, are not the easiest people to deal with. An Indian Government which spends a large part of its budget to fight Pakistan, if necessary, over the Kashmir dispute while it refuses international arbitration, and which condones the crimes of Russia does not always encourage western friendship.

But if the west allows these temporary irritations to undermine its basic policy of aiding the Asiatic peoples without dictating to their governments, then it cannot hope to repair the damage already done. It cannot complain if Asia is deceived by Russia's clever lies, baited with propaganda and more effectively, with food.

Another Case Of Discrimination

THE OTHER DAY IN HAMILTON, Ont., Oscar Peterson walked into a barber shop and asked for a haircut. He was told the shop was closed. While he was seeking an explanation, another man walked in off the street, sat in a chair and the barber started to cut the newcomer's hair. Oscar Peterson is a negro—a Canadian and a noted musician, but a negro.

The incident carries the element of tragedy—not for Oscar Peterson, but for this nation if such discrimination is allowed to grow. Personally, Peterson was "floored." He said, "I just couldn't believe it could happen in this country."

"What made it worse," he explained, "was that when I and a number of other musicians were on tour with Jazz at the Philharmonic I looked at all those signs in the south, and told them, 'Man, this is no place to live. You should be in Canada. They know how to live up there.' Because down there, when you see those signs, and people look at you that way, you begin to feel as if you're not really a man."

Peterson's musical partner is a United States citizen who "wouldn't want to see it get like the United States up here."

Ontario's deputy attorney-general stated the province has an act prohibiting anyone from practicing racial or religious discrimination in advertising, but it does not cover acts of discrimination of the type which Peterson complains. It is illegal for property owners to advertise premises for rent to "whites only" or to list them as "restricted." But it does not prevent anyone from refusing to rent to a negro or anyone else. Similarly the act is no bar to discrimination in restaurants, barber shops or other places of business.

The incident and the explanation reveal two points. There is no absolute legislative way of beating what is known as the "gentleman's agreement" when it comes to discrimination, particularly racial discrimination. And Canadians require a far deeper sense of democracy than laws can give them in order to avoid this evil which crops up occasionally in this nation.

Conditions Forcing Unity

ESQUIMALT COUNCIL'S SUGGESTION that Greater Victoria municipalities revive the inter-municipal committee to deal with matters of joint concern may not be listed as a definite step toward amalgamation. During its previous existence, the body composed of representatives from the various districts was not concerned with the unification of all services or all administrations. It sought only expedient means of doing work to mutual advantage.

The stimulant leading to Esquimalt's proposal does, however, suggest further argument in favor of amalgamation. That municipality is not satisfied with the city's garbage disposal system.

Neither is Victoria. The fact is obvious that a more efficient method is required. That is a matter of joint concern to the urban region. Sooner or later a better plan should be evolved, and in its evolution the different municipalities ought to be vitally interested.

Joint action on an improved garbage disposal system is reasonable. And as more similar instances arise, the city, Oak Bay, Saanich and Esquimalt will have the logic of amalgamation brought home to them more forcefully. With or without political action, conditions are forcing unification. Those with vision should see that the time has arrived to direct that course on democratic lines.

Fed Or Fed Up?

AS SO OFTEN HAPPENS, BRITAIN'S quantitative problems in regard to food have led to qualitative repercussions. Food substitutions, ersatz concoctions, strange new recipes have been added to the existing hazards of whether there will be anything to eat at all. Familiar names of foods tend to become courtesy terms where the main ingredients are in short supply.

Thus, as the House of Commons at Westminster has been duly informed, six parts of milk powder are now taken to be the equivalent of 10 parts of meat in the fashioning of "beef" sausage. As to the nutritional fairness of this ratio, only the dietetic experts can decide. But the meaty flavor of a good juicy sausage can in no way have been improved by this substitute contribution from the dairy rather than the butcher shop.

Carried only a little further, the question raised by a Conservative member of the House: "How much milk powder can be put in before a sausage becomes a cream bun?" becomes highly pertinent. It is a question of terminology which many Britons must be asking today.

Loose Ends

By BRUCE HUTCHISON

TO SEE Dr. Ralph Bunche speaking to the convocation of the B.C. University the other day was to realize that perhaps after all we are making a little progress and may make enough to survive, if we have enough time.

It is remarkable enough that a poor Negro orphan has become one of the most eminent Americans of his time. But Dr. Bunche, one felt, is less important as a man than as a symbol. As a man he has become the most famous figure in the United Nations but as a symbol he represents the whole meaning of the United Nations. In him the divided worlds of color are at last joined, the great majority of colored peoples is accepted in equality by the ruling white minority. He is a portent which history will mark if the two worlds escape the final rupture and calamity.

ONE felt something still more remarkable in the presence of this man. He had worked in New York until 5 o'clock on the previous afternoon, had flown for 19 hours without sleep, had been whisked to the Canadian Club for a luncheon speech, and to a press conference, and then out to the University to receive a degree and deliver an address worthy of any forum in the world. Yet he appeared fresh, nonchalant and charming. His bearing and diction were those of a scholar and a philosopher who, wounded in early life by the cruel circumstances of his race, had lived down all resentment and regret, and now bore no scars. The remarkable thing, however, was not the man himself but the attitude of a white audience toward him.

I FOUND myself—and this must have been true of many others—amazed that a Negro should be, in learning, manner and moral power, easily the dominant figure among people of various races which have always considered themselves superior to all colored peoples. The single fact that we should be surprised at such a discovery is the best—or the worst—commentary on ourselves. The arrogance of our race, thus suddenly revealed, rose up to strike us like a physical blow.

All of us in America, I suppose, have been led to believe in the superiority of the white race as a decree of nature which we cannot alter, even if we wished to. Few have suspected that our superior power, wealth and education are the result of geographical chance, have existed only a few thousands years at most, and can disappear like the great colored empires of the past.

DR. BUNCHE, a Negro who has risen above all racial barriers, reminds us sharply and painfully of that fact, and should remind us that relatively few human creatures are white, that our minority, even with our skills in peace and war, cannot long control the world for our own purposes.

In that sense, Dr. Bunche is a disturbing portent. He makes us think, which is the last thing we wish to do. He makes us think of the long crimes we have practised upon his race, of the vengeance which the world of color may take upon the white later on if we are not wise and good enough to prevent it. Speaking candidly, without rancor, certainly with no sense of inferiority or superiority either, Dr. Bunche says that the only hope of avoiding such results lies in the acceptance of all peoples as equals and as human beings.

THAT, of course, sounds like a platitude, which it is, but like all platitudes, it is true. Read in a newspaper it makes little impression on the western mind—merely a piece of shallow lip service to a worthy but impossible ideal.

When it comes from the living presence of a great man who has broken all the conventions of color and become a citizen of the world, it strikes you with an effect impossible to convey in words. No one who read Dr. Bunche's speech without hearing it can imagine its impact upon the university students now entering, with fresh, unclouded minds, upon a world which we, their fathers, cannot hope to understand.

Watching the students from the platform it seemed to me that, in a fashion quite alien to us at that age, they grasped the great and terrible facts which this Negro represents—facts which this new generation must grapple with, which it must begin to master or perish.

IN PRINT it probably looked like another platitude when Dr. Bunche said that the world's only hope lay in the United Nations, but this also was true and, heard directly from his lips, appeared as a new and startling idea. It needs to be said again and again until the world thoroughly understands it.

The trouble with democracy, of course, is that things happen too quickly, the human being is so assailed by a clamorous procession of facts that the big ones get lost in the rush. The biggest one in current affairs is that, for the first time in all human history, men of many nations and races are united for the single, simple objective of resisting aggression and enforcing peace.

THAT, too, is lost in the rush of news from the battle front, where the great experiment is working itself out. It should be obvious and yet it strikes one as a startling thought when Dr. Bunche says that the whole future of mankind, the chance of civilization's survival, may rest, even during the next few weeks or days, on a relatively minor war in Korea. No human life can escape these consequences for better or worse.

If our perspective had not been blurred by too many shocks we would know that we are living at this moment through the most decisive moments of human experience. Dr. Bunche is a great man primarily because he knows that. Probably no man can know it so well as one whose people have long been the victims of human greed, stupidity and folly.

Artistic Temperament

Dr. R. Jacques in BBC London Letter

The artistic temperament can be very trying indeed to be up in the clouds or down in the depths is never a comfortable way of living, but it has many compensations. The depths can be dark, but my word! the clouds can be ecstatic.

As Our Readers See It

OLD AGE PENSIONS

Re your editorial in Monday's issue, you state that "the sudden enactment of universal old age pensions had taken the B.C. Government by surprise." It should not have done so, had they read any of the many briefs sent them by our organization.

You remark that a person with a large income will receive this pension on reaching the age of 70. You do not make allowance for the inherent pride which will deter many of affluent circumstances from making an application for this pension, and again should they do so, and thus receive the pension, it will return to the government in increased income tax he or she will have to pay, thus reducing by far the estimated cost to the government.

Also when stating the increasing number of old age pensions I do not think you make due allowance for the number of them who are daily called home to receive their just and final reward.

First Vice-President, Branch Five,
Old Age Pensioners' Organization.

REALIZATION NEEDED

Colliers of May 26 has a delightful article re Karl Gruber (Austria's foreign minister) and his persistent successful resistance to the Russian thugs who have tried to get control of his country.

He appears to be one man in central Europe the Russians can't bluff, he appreciates the assistance given to his sorely tried country by U.S.A. and is working 100 per cent to discount the dirty methods used by Stalin to take over Europe.

After carefully reading Steinberg's "Verdict of Three Decades" I have come to the conclusion that the sooner all free democratic countries fully realize the Stalin-Russian menace and what they are attempting to do, the better for us all.

HIGH HONORS

The announcements of the scholastic honors collected by girl students of the U.B.C. and Victoria College, must have been very distressing to the misogynist who wrote to Mrs. Hodges.

Right under his nose, one "foolish thinking" female carried off the Governor's gold medal for high intellectual attainment, others topping the lists in law and pharmacy.

Perhaps there were too many "male idiots," as he calls them, in evidence, "opening too many doors" for them!

Let us hope that these girls will use their intellectual powers for further achievement in some field of human endeavor and not bury themselves in marriage, especially to misogynists!

LETTUCE AND PRICES

Has the world gone crazy?
An A.P. dispatch states that Federal Court injunctions necessary to stop plowing under acres of lettuce in the "Lettuce Bowl" at California.

We in Victoria are paying the exorbitant price of 24 cents per pound for much-needed lettuce. If lettuce were a lower price more would be used—that goes without saying, and when associations of growers deliberately plow in their crops in a scarce North American market, I ask, who is to blame? Is it transportation, middle men, or just plain lunacy?

Under Our Roof

By JOHN RHODES STURDY

THE OTHER DAY I DECIDED TO SEE what I could do about gathering the essentials for a seafood dinner. Here on the island, of course, it is impossible to walk into a restaurant and order oysters on the half-shell, or Lobster Newburg, which was how I was brought up on seafood, but as one of my neighbors said, when I mentioned the fact to him: "Look yonder—there's the beach and there's the ocean. What are you waiting for?"

(Which reminded me of an old fellow at Cape Cod, who, when asked what he did for a living, slowly replied: "Wal—Fridays I go a-scuppin'. Saturdays I go a-clamm'n'. Today bein' Saturday, I'm goin' a-clamm'n'.")

Wal, I was goin' a-crabb'n'. Since coming to the Coast I have developed a distinct liking for cracked crab, which is a unique and delightful dish in these parts, and a true native delicacy. (Of course, being a native dish, you can't get it. Most of the Coast restaurants apparently have never heard of it, and even in the big hotels you have to carry on a whispered intrigue with Room Service and twist the Maitre D's wrist before they will sneak some of it up to your room.)

So here I was, armed with a rake and a pail, proceeding towards the beach, resolved to serve cracked crab straight out of the sea, and just as I was leaving my wife remarked: "By the way, your pup tent has arrived."

Now there are some things that are said to you that don't register at the time, owing to the press of other events. The fact that I had never owned a pup tent, and had only slept in one once—as a Tenderfoot Scout—didn't enter my head. I was full of the lure of the sea and the thrill of the chase, and I said offhandedly to my wife: "Oh, sure."

Sitting on the beach, taking off my shoes and socks and rolling up my pants breathing the salt air of the Strait of Georgia—I was wondering what the boys Back East would think of me now. Particularly Hamish, the assistant janitor in the apartment house where I used to live. Whoops! I thought, dangling my big toe in the water; thank heaven Hamish is out of my life and those high city days are gone forever.

("Now, it's like this," my neighbor had said. "There are several ways to catch crab. The best way is in a trap. But if you haven't got a trap, a surefire method is to wade out into the water in your bare feet until you step on one—and then you haul him in with a rake.")

From my log-book:

9.21 a.m.—Proceeding to enter water.
10.05 a.m.—Second big toe submerged.
10.50 a.m.—Returned to the house for coffee.

11.15 a.m.—Proceeding to enter water.
11.16 a.m.—Repelled by tidal wave.
12.05 p.m.—Successfully launched both feet.

12.15 p.m.—Viciously attacked by school of small fish. Strategic withdrawal to beach.

12.30 p.m.—Lunch.
1.00 p.m.—Operation Crabmeat under way.

2.30 p.m.—Rescued from rapidly disappearing rock by friendly fishing boat at high tide. Expedition considered successful when crab discovered attached to big toe of left foot.

That night, fortified with liniment and several aspirin to check possible pneumonia, I said hoarsely to my wife: "Did you say something this morning about a pup tent?"

"Yes, I did. It came by express, collect. At first I thought you had ordered it, but later I discovered a tag with the name Hamish on it. You don't suppose—"

"Oh, no!" I groaned. "He can't be coming to visit us!"

"Looks like it to me," my wife said, and took a couple of aspirin herself. I shuddered. This was the climax to all the postcards Hamish had been sending me. He was coming West, and bringing his own tent.

"I wonder," my wife said, just before we turned out the light, "if the pup tent is for Hamish—or us."
I wonder.

Report From The Firing Line

By JOSEPH ALSOP, from London

AFTER observing the appalling effects of the MacArthur controversy on this side of the Atlantic (where America's allies are half-convinced that America has gone mad) any sensible man must hesitate to contribute to the clamor. None-the-less, it is really important to understand the secret mainspring of recent British policy in the Far East and elsewhere.

This reporter got his first inkling of the truth while talking to a high official of the Labor government who is notable both for proven courage and sound political judgment. The possibility of a war this year, touched off by a Soviet attack on Yugoslavia, was under discussion. Suddenly the official burst out with unexpected vehemence:

"If war must come this year, it must come this year; I for one want no Munich. But you must realize that if war breaks out as soon as that, it will be the end of these Islands, the end of Europe as we know it, the end of almost everything that is precious to us. Somehow, one hopes, it can be at least staved off until a minimum defence is ready."

Later investigation made it clear that the official was informally stating what is in fact the basic, officially recognized chief factor in current British policy making. The truth is simple enough. The British do not yet possess an efficient air defence. Until an air defence is built up, their Chiefs of Staff have told the Cabinet that the country can be devastated beyond repair by atomic bombs in Soviet hands.

Furthermore, if war breaks out before the Kremlin has built up a big stock of atomic bombs, it is also clear that this country, the chief western stronghold on this side of the Atlantic, will be the prime Soviet target. This is because the Soviet can theoretically get relatively decisive results here in Britain with a small atomic stock, whereas a substantial stock will be needed for a successful attack on the vastly larger, more dispersed and far more distant American industrial complex.

GRAVE DEBATE

These grim facts touched off a grave debate within the British Cabinet when a more adequate defence program was first proposed last summer. At that time, the more left-wing ministers actually advocated neglecting Britain's Atlantic pact obligations in favor of a huge investment in civil defence, aimed to transform the British Isles into one large bombproof shelter. More recently, the same facts have caused the British Chiefs of Staff to ask Washington for loans of aircraft and other equipment, in order to provide Britain with a stronger air defence without further delay.

But a year to 18 months more must pass before a reasonable level of security is attained.

It may be said, and with some justice, that even partial appeasement never pays, and that in any case the British ought to have seen to their own defences long ago. But President Truman himself gave the lead in the wrong direction when he decided to forget about the whole Western defence problem after the 1948 election. Former Secretary of Defence Louis Johnson made matters much worse by carefully dismantling the long-established machinery of Anglo-American collaboration, and thus opening the way for every sort of misunderstanding. This was when the rot began.

A stronger government in London would have stopped the rot long ago, as would a stronger government in Washington. As it is, a cure may be in sight at last. Meanwhile, before they judge their allies, it will be well for Americans to remember Britain is on the firing line.

Only Poor 'Show' Of Monster Victoria Day Parade Given By Weeping Weatherman

Eye-catching as well as an ear-pleaser in big May 24 parade was B.C. Electric entry in commercial float section. "Sugar cane train" won first prize, puffing smoke, playing music as it carried candy cargo over two-mile route. Youngsters on sidelines, some oldsters, too, were hoping someone would shout loudly "All aboard."

Crowds were good sports as well as drenched parade participants as downpour continued throughout most of the show. Many umbrellas mushroomed from curbs and few spectators abandoned places to find shelter.

Victoria Chinese made fine showing with drill team and several other entries. This Community Club float carrying Queen of the Oriental section won first prize in parade of nations division of colorful parade.

'Caddy' Tamed For May 24 Appearance

Good old Cadborosaurus had to come out on "dry" land for holiday festivities and little eight-year-old Moralee Rutley did the "trick." She rode him atop Neighbor Greeting Car to win first prize in best-decorated commercial auto class. "Caddy" and tamer won applause from spectators as famous sea serpent humped along the route.

May Queen Betty Rides Royal Butterfly Float

Bevy of beauties in Royal Party of May 24 parade gave elaborate T. Eaton float final touch. It was outstanding feature of procession. May Queen Betty Dolman and charming members of her court wore white coats over their silks because of heavy rain. Big butterfly had to be manoeuvred carefully to avoid stop-go lights.

Smart Seattle Police Steal Parade March

Thirty-two man drill team of Seattle Police Department gave one of most impressive marching performances of procession. Old favorites in local Victoria Day festivities, they brought drummers

SOME GLITTER WASHED OUT

Huge Rain-Drenched Crowd Enthusiastic About Parade

By LLOYD BAKER

Although heavy rain washed much of the glitter from the feature spectacle of the May 24 celebrations, the Victoria Day parade scored again Thursday as the most colorful holiday event of the Pacific Northwest.

Many thousands braved the rain, lining the streets of the downtown district two, three and four deep, to watch the procession.

All along the two miles of the parade route enthusiasm over the calibre, variety and precision of the show was high.

The weather was a disappointment, obviously, and there's little doubt there'll be some sneezing after-effects; but the 1951 parade will be remembered mainly for the enjoyment it provided.

Victoria Elks Lodge was in charge of the parade for the second year running, and an efficient crew of 22 marshals under the direction of Claude Howard got the first unit away from the Athletic Park assembly area at the scheduled starting time of 10.15.

It was an advance guard of 12 precision riders from the Victoria Motorcycle Club which weaved the procession through the business district to the dispersal area at the Parliament Buildings.

An hour and 15 minutes after the smooth-riding jockeys passed on their iron steeds, the rear guard of the real thing came into view—cowboys and gals on high-stepping mounts from the Western Horsemen's Club.

MANY BANDS

Sandwiched tastily between were something like 14 bands—brass, bugle and Highland—spectacular floats which drew "ooh's and aah's" from the crowds, smart-stepping, drill teams with their jaunty drum-majorities, professional marchers from the navy and army who, along with air force cadets, would have gladdened the heart of the toughest drill major, clowns with their bulbous noses and floppy feet, and a dozen-and-one other interesting features.

In the centre spotlight, of course, was the Queen of the Festivities, Her Highness Betty Dolman, who, smiling and pert, rode high on a throne of the royal butterfly float.

The dainty Miss Dolman of Mount View High School was a picture of prettiness, surrounded by her princesses and attendants in the shade of the glistening multi-colored wings of a huge life-size butterfly.

The Queen's float was the contribution to the festival of the T. Eaton Co.

In the limelight, too, were the Queens of other districts—the local Chinese community, Esquimalt, Langford, Duncan and Bellingham.

There were new features in this year's parade, which added to the color and novelty.

Red dress coats of a 16-man platoon from the R.C.M.P. stood out in startling contrast to the service attire of the navy and army units, and the air force cadets.

There were more "kitties" than usual, and their spectacular dress gave a "lift" to the procession.

A pleasant surprise to many who watched and listened was the addition to the parade of a boys' choir sponsored by the local Rotary Club. Songs of the chorus from a tiered platform mounted on a giant truck brought applause from the side lines.

Pride in their districts was shown clearly in the entries from Saanich and the new Central Saanich municipalities.

Saanich was represented by a float massed with thousands of cut flowers which withstood the rain to throw a blaze of color along the route.

Central Saanich's entry was, perhaps, even more spectacular. Three floats depicted the progress of the area covered by the new municipality—the days before white men, the days of the pioneers, and the present time.

Following the floats were heavy farm machinery.

At the wheel of the first piece of equipment—a heavy-duty tractor with discing unit—was Central Saanich's Reeve Sydney Pickles.

There were more entries than ever in the parade-within-a-parade, the Parade of Nations, which presented typical scenes and costume of the North American Indian, the Chinese, Latvians, Hungarians, Estonians, the Dutch, Danes, East Indians, English and Americans.

Highlighting the out-of-town entries were a 32-man precision drill squad from the Seattle Police Department which brought a drum unit to Victoria for the first time, and the brass band of Bellingham High School.

Both gave flawless performances to win the admiration of the throngs.

ROSARIANS ARE PARADERS

The Bellingham band, as well as a 15-member delegation of Portland Rosarians whose annual Rose Festival has won fame throughout the land, were the envy of the eye of other participants as well as many spectators.

Each member of the two groups came prepared for wet weather with transparent raincoats and hat covers which they removed when the showers stopped from time to time.

The Chinese of Victoria played a big role in the spectacle with their floats of Oriental design and their age-old Lion Dance.

Their show may have been stolen by the pink-clad Chinese Girls Drill team which also gave a polished performance.

Even Cadborosaurus got into the parade to bring chuckles from the crowds. "Caddy" was draped over the roof of a "Neighbor Greeting Car" in realistic fashion.

A favorite entry among the children and grownups alike was the B.C. Electric Company's "sugar-cane special"—a smoke-puffing train which might have looked right out of a Walt Disney cartoon.

The accent was on youth in much of the parade with Girl Guides, members of the Canadian Girls in Training and H.Y. boys presenting a cross-section of their activities.

The Y.M.C.A. and the Y.W.C.A. also added greatly to the success of the event.

NAVY HAD FLOATS

Heavy equipment as well as some clever floats were shown by the Navy, and the fire departments of the city, Saanich and Esquimalt naval establishment showed off their pumps and ladder trucks.

Antique cars chugged along in the procession. And when a death-defying clown flung himself in front of a long-retired fire engine included in the ancient-car section, the high-wheeler kept going without hurting the comic.

Absence of floats from the industries of Vancouver Island was noted. Their contributions of previous years were missed.

Indian Women in Close Race At Gorge Regatta

Well-bunched at finish line in kloochmen's race at Gorge were crews from Che-minus Bay, foreground, winners, West

Saanich and Lummi Island, Wash. Huge crowd saw regatta, sponsored jointly by R.C.N. and Native Sons of Canada.

Vancouver Crew Wins Naval Race

Crews of naval whalers were weary after rowing heavy boats against wind and tide to Gorge regatta finish line below Narrows at Tillicum Road. Finish of elimination heat seen above. Winner of final event was H.M.C.S. Discovery, Vancouver.

Galiano Island Indians Win Major Regatta Event

Skipper Vincent Miller and 10 husky braves from Galiano Island drove their war canoe across the finish line Thursday at the Gorge two full-lengths ahead of the pack in the final event of the May 24 regatta.

In the final event for naval whalers the blue-jerseyed crew of H.M.C.S. Discovery, Vancouver's reserve naval division, pulled the six-oared boat in to a solid victory over the Naden Supply and Secretariat School, which came in second, and Reserve Training Establishment of University of British Columbia cadets.

A huge crowd, jammed on bluff and beach immediately below the boiling narrows and the finish line, saw the races.

Second-place winner in the final 10-boat event for 11-paddle canoes from Vancouver Island and the mainland was the Saanich No. 8, captained by Vic Underwood. Third was Burrard View of Vancouver, with Eddie George in the stern.

Winner of the first heat for five canoes was Galiano's Mermaid, and the second five-boat event was won by a Duncan entry, Mount Prevost, with veteran skipper Robbie Daniels giving orders.

A large group of officers and men of the R.C.N. were on hand to cheer the navy crews who pulled their heavy whalers over the four-tenths mile course. Naden Mechanical Training Establishment, H.M.C.S. Malahat of Victoria, Sea Cadets, and Naden reserve officers also were represented.

ADM. CREEERY WATCHES

Rear-Admiral W. B. Creeery, C.B.E., Flag Officer Pacific Coast, said of the navy's part in the celebrations in general: "We are part of the community, and enjoy playing a part in community affairs."

QUEEN INTRODUCED

May Queen Betty Dolman and party were introduced to the crowd by Mayor Percy George midway through the sparkling program.

Individual star was Ernie George, who skippered Vancouver's North Shore 11-paddle entry, Burrard View, and won both the single and double-paddle canoe races.

Also on hand was Abel Joe, Cowichan logger and famous tenor star of the Indian opera "Tzinquaw," who placed second in both single and double-paddle events.

Outstanding personality of the show, however, was Counsellor Mike Underwood of the Cowichan Indians, another "Tzinquaw" star. Mike announced the Indian events wearing a dashing war bonnet, lapsing from his English every now and then into angry Indian dialect when his entries were tardy at the starting line.

It was a beautiful afternoon for the show, although gusts of wind sometimes made handling of small canoes difficult, and naval crews at times had to row their heavy craft against both wind and tide.

3,000 THRILLED AT RODEO

Crash Through Flaming Wall High Point In Motorcycle Club's Show

Members of the Victoria Motorcycle Club provided 3,000 patrons with over two hours of fast-moving entertainment on the occasion of the annual May 24 rodeo at Macdonald Park Thursday afternoon.

Program included precision drill, solo stunts, individual and team acrobatics and wound up with a high speed crash through a flaming board wall.

Comic entertainment was supplied throughout the entire program by Art Carrington. Main dramatics were provided by stunt rider Al Lewis who thrilled the big crowd by climbing up and down a ladder mounted on the rear of his uncontrolled vehicle and later climaxed the entertainment by driving his machine through a blazing board wall, one inch thick.

Force of the impact split his crash helmet. The helmet served its intended purpose, however, and prevented injury to the rider.

THRILLING STUNT

Additional thrills were provided by Roy Chester, who ran his machine up a ramp and over the prostrate forms of nine of his fellow clubmen. The leap carried his 400-pound machine 20 feet through the air.

Reg. Shanks astounded the crowd with individual stunts, while tiny Barry Bissenden, eight-year-old son of club member Malcolm Bissenden, nearly stole the show with his balancing act atop the shoulders of cyclist Ted Waterman.

Organizer and director of the show was Ron Bissenden.

Coleman's Column

By JIM COLEMAN

KITCHENER—It is appropriate that the City of Kitchener should open its new $1,200,000 Memorial arena in a year when Milt Schmidt, a famous native son, has won belated recognition as the most valuable player in the National Hockey League. There hasn't been a better all-around player than Schmidt in the past decade. Indeed, there are competent critics who maintain that, if Milt hadn't been in the Armed Services for four years, he would have been ranked ahead of Howie Morenz as the greatest of all time.

The official opening of the magnificent building took place May 24. Several undernourished scribbles fainted dead away at a press preview when they came within sniffing distance of the small dinner which had been prepared under the auspices of the Memorial Auditorium commission—and the Kitchener-Waterloo Record.

The menu, which had a rathskeller touch, included such fragile items as Bavarian meat snacks; Leberknodel soup, spareribs and sauerkraut, pigs' tails and several thousand pounds of Liebkraut.

Held Loaded Sports Writers

There can be no doubt that the new Auditorium is spoutly constructed. Four visitors crashed right through the bottoms of their chairs before they reached the Liebkraut but the floor withstood the shock. The management thoughtfully impounded the automobiles of all visitors and drove the fountained guests home in a specially-reinforced 10-ton trailer-truck.

It is a small wonder that the ensuing slumbers of the scribes were disturbed by dreams in which they recalled the names of bygone hockey players who have made Kitchener one of the Dominion's best hockey towns.

For instance, there weren't many better hockey teams than Kitchener's club which won the Allan Cup in 1918. The goalie was the late George Hainsworth and his mates were such illustrious gents as George Hillier, Snooty Trushinski, George Karges, Parkes, Solomon, Ferriman and Leroux. In his days with Montreal Canadiens, Hainsworth set a shutout mark which never has been approached by any other goalie. Snooty (watta name) Trushinski had only one good eye but they say that he could see out of both of 'em, on pay-nights.

Kitchener Produced All Stars

For that matter, you could name an outstanding all-time all-star team from Kitchener players who went on to the N.H.L. Take such fellows as Hainsworth, Milt Schmidt, Bobby Bauer, Woody Dumart, Ott Heller, Earl Seibert, Dutch Hillier, Howie Meeker, Bingo Kampman, Augie Herchenrater, Lloyd Gross, Gamey Lederman and Werner Schnarr!

Rudolph Krug, who owned a controlling interest in the old Auditorium for many years, has his own ideas about Kitchener's best hockey players. He named only four—Schmidt, George Hillier, Jimmie Gibson and Goldie Cochran. It is of interest that the old Auditorium cost a grand total of $35,000 when it was built in 1904.

Len Taylor, sport editor of the Kitchener-Waterloo Record, caught Harry "Carlo" Boehmer in a reminiscent mood the other day. Boehmer, who is 74, was the goalie for Kitchener's first championship team in the O.H.A. He credits the late Ed Seagram, of horse-racing and distilling fame, with being the man who introduced hockey to Kitchener. Seagram learned the game at college and taught it to his Kitchener friends on a neighboring pond.

Mr. Boehmer recalls that, after one spirited match with Waterloo, the members of the Kitchener team were presented with 10-dollar gold pieces by a happy and successful wagerer. Boehmer had his coin made into a watch chain.

Amateur Standing Was Gone

Ah, but the acceptance of those coins was a dastardly act. The amateur officials heard about it and the entire Kitchener team was suspended and stigmatized as sordid professionals because they had accepted money.

Nope, Mr. Boehmer doesn't watch hockey these days—he thinks that the game has become much too tough. Until the construction of this grand new building, Kitchener hasn't had indoor ice for 10 years. A group headed by C. D. "Bulldog" Pequegnat have been working on the plans for this Auditorium since 1938. They have wheeled, cajoled and scrounged from the ratpayers and they have put the town into hock.

However, the results have been worth the efforts. This building can be compared favorably with any in the country—including the new rinks in Quebec City and Calgary.

CAPILANOS WILLING TO TRADE

VANCOUVER (CP)—Bob Brown, boss of the Vancouver Capilanos, is out to make some trades—this time for pitchers.

Manager Bill Schuster is looking into the future and wants boss Brown to take action.

Brown said last night he would definitely use Jimmy Robinson, fleet infielder, as trading bait.

"Three clubs are interested in Jim, and if I can get the right kind of pitcher, we'll make a deal."

Jim Keating, hard hitting outfielder, and Don Richmond, a first baseman expected along in mid-June, may also be used as bait.

Jimmy Moore, a second baseman who was a rookie standout with Victoria last season, is expected to report to the Caps about June 15.

Hogan Holds 2-Stroke Lead

FORT WORTH, Tex. (CP)—Ben Hogan whipped par by two strokes Thursday to lead the first round of the $15,000 Colonial National Invitation tournament with a 68.

The United States Open and Masters champion, showing off for the home folks, stashed over Colonial Country Club's 7,035-yard par 35-35-70 with a 34-34.

Hogan was one strike ahead of Bill Nary of Prairie View, Ill.; Cary Middlecoff, of Memphis, Tenn.; and Toney Penna, of Cincinnati.

Seven Straight For Amazing White Sox

Frank Lane, the man who isn't afraid to scorch his fingers in a deal, can take a bow for the amazing success story of the Chicago White Sox.

Last by 134 games with a sorry 8-21 record a year ago, the surprising Sox now are a driving second with 19-9 and an unprecedented clean sweep on their first eastern tour.

Paul Richards, the new manager Lane brought in from Seattle, rates the big cheer. But the man behind the scenes is Lane, the energetic go-getter who is the Chicago general manager.

This is a "made" club, put together almost entirely with deals. The Sox have no farm system worthy of the name.

Randy Gumpert gave up 11 hits to Philadelphia yesterday but went all the way to a 5 to 2 win, Chicago's seventh straight. Robinson's seventh homer led the Sox's 11-hit attack on Joe Coleman and Carl Scheib.

But not as they are the Sox can't gain on the New York Yankees who belted over Detroit, 11 to 1, for their 14th win in 15 Yankee Stadium starts.

Casey Stengel got an extra day's rest for his regulars by pitching Joe Ostrowski and the bespectacled lefty went all the way. It was his first complete game since June 22, 1950.

Bobby Feller bounced back from his first loss at Boston to shut out Washington with two singles, 16 to 0, supported by a 19-hit barrage.

CARDS GAIN Only scheduled action in the National brought St. Louis a rousing 11 to 3 win over Cincinnati in a night game. Rookie Joe Presko, a Houston grad, had a not-hit game going for 6 1/2 innings. Johnny Wyrostek ended that with a double. He still had a one-hitter going to the ninth when the Reds got to him for four more hits and their three runs. It was the third win for the 22-year-old right-hander.

C.A.H.A. Adopts Rule Aimed At Stalling Tactics

Automatic 1-Year Suspension Given

HALIFAX (CP)—The Canadian Amateur Hockey Association Thursday put a sting in its rule book for players or team officials delaying games.

The rule provides a one-year suspension—with no right of appeal—for a player or official who withdraws a team from the ice, fails to ice a team or refuses to start play within two minutes after being ordered to do so by the referee.

If a team is withdrawn, refuses to ice a team or holds up a game a second time, the two-minute warning will not be given and the same penalties apply. In each case, the game will be awarded to the opposing team.

The original motion provided for a two-year suspension but this was amended after several delegates said this long suspension might harm younger players by depriving them of coaching for a lengthy period.

The association, holding its third session of the 38th annual convention, threw out an amendment which would allow clubs to affiliate others within a radius of 50 miles.

RULE AFFECTS PROS

Under a new amendment, reinstated professionals will not be allowed to sign cards with other than major or senior clubs if they have been reinstated after Jan. 1 of the playing season.

Secretary-manager George Dudley presented a new financial proposal, which calls for an annual budget with the deficit to be met from a proportionate amount from the three playoff series.

His proposal, held over for consideration later, suggested a $78,700 budget for next season — with $74,475 remaining to be raised from the three playoffs.

Requests from the British Columbia and Maritime branches for additional imports were deferred until the major series receives further consideration.

The association decided also to make efforts to have hockey listed as Canada's national game, instead of lacrosse as at present.

Abbie Coe of Winnipeg cast the only dissenting vote.

To Attempt Speedboat Mark Sunday

LAKE GARDA, Italy (CP)—

Donald Campbell said Thursday he will attempt to break the world waterspeed record Sunday with his speedboat Bluebird.

The world mark of 160.224 miles an hour was set June 1950, by Stanley Sayres, a Seattle businessman, over Lake Washington in Sayres' boat, Slo-Mo-Shun.

It broke the mark of 141.74 m.p.h. set by Donald's father, the late Sir Malcolm Campbell, on Lake Coniston, England, in 1939.

City Ousts Royals From Dominion Cup

VANCOUVER (CP)—

A goal 10 seconds from time Thursday put Vancouver City into the third round of the Dominion Cup soccer championship play.

The City, defending champions, beat New Westminster Royals 3 to 2 at Callister Park.

The champions will never have a more fortunate win. They were down 2 to 1 at half time and in the second half had the worst of the exchanges before equalizing and then winning.

Carlow Family Sweeps Central Track Meet

Beverly won 15 points in her division to take the intermediate honors handsily as well as the girls' championship for the school.

Best senior girl was Lois Newell, with 13 points; best junior girl, Janice Frame, who totaled 11 points.

Victoria High School Athletes Dominate Inter-High Track Meet

A pair of fleet-footed brothers, John and Ted Whan, won seven of the 16 boys' events in the fourth annual inter-high track and field meet concluded Wednesday afternoon at the Vic High cinder track. The victories placed the two boys beside each other on the champions' podium, John with the junior crown firmly affixed, and Ted wearing the laurel wreath for the seniors. Rounding out the sweep of major honors by the Fernwood Road school were Chris Boyd, who took the senior girls' championship, and Patsy Wright, best junior girl. Track and field stars will now sharpen their spikes for the big provincial high school track meet to be held on the same track June 1 and 2, with 30 teams travelling to Victoria from all over the province. Climax of the track and field season will be the Y.M.C.A. centennial meet here June 19, which will have separate junior section. Left to right, Chris, Ted, Patsy and John.

INTER-ISLAND CRICKET

Parkins, Sparks Pace South Win

Captain Ted Parkins, batting the first half century of the season, and bowler Jack Sparks, who took three wickets for two runs, made two brilliant catches, and retired after knocking out 29 runs, paced South to a 155 to 65 victory over North in the cricket test match played before a good crowd at Beacon Hill oval yesterday.

The Victoria side, which counted only two ducks on the afternoon's play, could attribute the convincing win partly to a well-balanced club chosen by the selection committee, partly to straight luck.

Eric Gleddeen, caught out by Sparks when he tried a snick on the first over, is one of the best up-and-bats, usually counted on to pile up the score. Two other North batters were out l.b.w.

A top-sided win was in evidence soon after the South started batting when Parkins' 50 and the 15 hit up by Charlie Pugh put the locals within three runs of North's total with only two men out.

Two games in the regular Victoria and District cricket schedule are set for 2.30 Saturday afternoon, and one for 2.30 Sunday.

Tomorrow Albions will play Cowichan at Beacon Hill, and Oak Bay will meet Alos at Macdonald Park. Sunday's game will bring together Inco and Five C's at Beacon Hill.

Clogg Heads Qualifiers In B.C. Amateur Golf

VANCOUVER (CP)—Percy Clogg Thursday made his bid for a Willingdon Cup berth, winning the 36-hole qualifying round of the B.C. Amateur Golf championship.

Clogg, from the Fraserview Club, put together round of 72-72 for a total of 144, one stroke better than Bill Mawhinney of Vancouver Quilchena. Par for the Shaughnessy course is 72.

Mawhinney fired a par-bested one under round of 71 in the afternoon 18 to go with his morning round of 74 for a 145 total. Walt McElroy, another Vancouver ace, carded a two-under 70 in the morning and a 79 in the afternoon for 149.

Victoria's Bob Morrison, a member of the Willingdon team last year, led the out-of-town entrants with a 73-76-149. Fellow townsman Bob Fleming followed with a 36-hole score of 154.

Thirty-two golfers qualified for the championship flight with match-play opening today.

Civil Defence Plan Scored By Pearkes

'Paltry' Says Nanaimo Member Of $4,196,000 Budget Appropriated

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada's civil defence program stirred controversy in the Commons Thursday night.

Maj.-Gen. G. R. Pearkes, V.C. (P.C., Nanaimo), Progressive Conservative military critic, said federal provisions for the protection of the civilian population in case of attack are "paltry."

Health Minister Martin, civil defence chief, said the general is wrong and Canada's precautions stack up with those of other countries.

The civil-defence discussion branched out as an offshoot of a defence debate that saw Defence Minister Claxton under close questioning.

In the civil defence discussion, Mr. Martin said the federal government cannot operate the organization; this must be done by the provinces and municipalities. For that reason the effectiveness of the program cannot be measured accurately by the amount of federal spending.

These expenditures for the current year are estimated at $4,196,000, and Gen. Pearkes was critical of the size in relation to the defence budget of $1,879,000,000.

"Never has a public servant in this country been asked to make bricks with less straw," he said of the task faced by Maj.-Gen. F. F. Worthington, federal civil-defence co-ordinator.

HOME GARDEN

by Hilda Beasall

One of the problems confronting home gardeners by the end of May is what to do with the spring flowering primulas.

Many new gardeners lose the return beauty of their primulas after the first year through lack of knowledge of their requirements.

The primula family includes polyanthus, primroses (P. Acaulis), Auriculas and the Asiatic Primulas. The last group is again divided into the Candelabras, Belled Primulas, Denticulatas, and a few others. These are later flowering, being in bloom during May and June.

Primulas are native to the mountainous regions of Asia, the Middle East and many European countries. This gives us the chief clue as to their needs in our gardens — a semi-shady position, moist, cool root-run, and humus.

Many of the new gardens lack just these necessities, and it has occurred to me that a practical suggestion may be welcomed.

When the flowering season ends for each group of Primulas it is time to dig and divide. Each "crown," into which with care the plant will readily divide, will develop during the summer into a fine flowering size plant for next spring.

These new plants should be set out into a semi-shady area, where they may have moist, cool soil in which to grow all summer. In the new gardens, however, there is quite often no tree or shrub shade, and so the gardener loses his plants during the hot dry months.

If, however, he constructs a miniature shade house, he creates ideal conditions for Primulas.

Make up a bed of the required size for the number of plants you wish to raise. Use the best compost material available, including leaf mould and old cow manure. Put together a frame of laths, running north and south, spaced

Victoria First Area To Get Defence Equipment

Delivery of equipment, operation of an emergency warning system, possible end of the 9.30 brewery-whistle-as curfew and need for fire fighting apparatus have been discussed by Co-ordinator Leonard Hatcher at a civil defence control-board meeting.

Mr. Hatcher said Greater Victoria would be the first area in Canada to receive civil defence equipment. Sufficient equipment for 300 persons is expected "almost immediately."

Gas masks, steel helmets, ground sheets, rubber boots and coveralls will be in the shipment with additional equipment for possibly 500 expected soon after the first delivery, Mr. Hatcher said.

An emergency warning system, comprising six sirens, and the brewery whistle will be in operation in Greater Victoria in about two weeks. It will be only a skeleton of the proposed eventual warning system which will have about 22 sirens, the co-ordinator said.

The board asked Mr. Hatcher to make suitable arrangements regarding the brewery whistle. Curfew will stay but the board suggested using the brewery whistle solely as an air raid warning.

'General Agreement' On Plans For Age Pensions

OTTAWA (CP)—The federal government, following a conference with the provinces, now is ready to draft legislation for an enlarged old-age pensions program.

A two-day federal-provincial conference on pensions ended Thursday with "general agreement" on principles. The conference was called to discuss legislation under which the federal government and the provinces will share on a 50-50 basis the cost of pensions to the needy between 65 and 69.

The program will be separate from the federal government's plan under which pensions of $40 a month will be paid to every one 70 and over regardless of means, provided they have lived in Canada for at least 20 years.

In a statement issued at the conclusion of the conference, Health Minister Martin said: "There was a full exchange of views and general agreement on the principles to be incorporated in the proposed old-age assistance legislation and on the conditions under which it would apply in the provinces."

All provinces were represented at the conference which met in private following a brief inaugural public session Wednesday. Premier Duplessis of Quebec and Premier Douglas of Saskatchewan headed the delegations from their provinces. Other provinces were represented by welfare ministers.

Starting Gun Kills Runner

TORONTO (CP)—A young Canadian athletic star dropped dead on a cinder track Wednesday night, his heart ruptured by the blast of his coach's starting gun.

Paul Vamplew, 17, rated as future great in middle distance running, died a few minutes after a blank cartridge accidentally discharged in a revolver held by Lloyd Percival, well-known athlete and sports mentor.

Dr. W. L. Christie, coroner, said Vamplew died of a haemorrhage when his heart was ruptured by the explosion in the gun at close range. The findings of an autopsy discounted an earlier theory that a paper wad in the cartridge might have penetrated to the youth's heart.

Dr. Christie said the blast penetrated the youth's chest and reached the heart. No trace of the cartridge wadding, or any other foreign matter, was found in the wound.

TOO BUSY TO WATCH

Fireworks Pleasing

An $800 fireworks display on the Dallas Road waterfront culminated Victoria's 1951 May 24 celebration Thursday night but the man closest to the aerial spectacle didn't see it.

Geoffrey C. R. Jackson of F. T. S. Limited, Vancouver, who with Eliseck Wilson, Victoria, set off the rockets and flares that made up the half-hour show, explained afterward he was too busy to see what was going on above him.

Several thousand people who crowded around the vicinity and covered the south slope of Beacon Hill watched intently, however, and were delighted.

Army Hiring Civilians Frees Many Servicemen

Cost Averages Only $2,300 A Year Against $3,200 To Keep Man In Uniform In Action

OTTAWA (CP)—The armed forces are hiring civilians by the thousands to free servicemen to prepare for war and because they cost less than men in uniform, Defence Minister Claxton said Thursday. The average other rank cost $3,200 a year all told while a civilian averaged only $2,300.

As the Commons swung into the 125,000-acre Wainwright military camp in Alberta into a base for advanced training of army formations as large as a 5,000-man brigade group and the development later might go even farther.

3. The minister said that since September the development of Canada's defence program, measured in terms of money, has been greater than for any period of corresponding length in the last war.

Other developments:

1. The Progressive Conservatives, in effect, revived demands for a Commons defence committee by arguing that the departmental estimates should be considered by the banking and commerce committee of the House. They were refused.

2. Mr. Claxton said it has been

QUIET VICTORIA DAY

Britain Observes 24th Reverently

LONDON (CP)—Victoria Day, once a gala event of parades and pageantry, was observed quietly and reverently today throughout the United Kingdom.

Marking the anniversary of the birth of Queen Victoria in 1819, the day brought out flags and bunting in London and other cities but for Britons it was not a public holiday. There was no country-wide celebration.

In London, special services of prayer and thanksgiving for the Commonwealth were held in St. Margaret's Church and wreaths were laid at the Cenotaph in Whitehall.

Luncheons, dinners and concerts were organized to mark the event by several Commonwealth societies.

For the King and Queen the day's program was a busy one. Their Majesties first paid a private visit to the Imperial Institute to inspect the exhibits of development from all the Dominions and Colonies.

Later, the King, accompanied by the Queen, presided at the installation of 29 Knights Grand Cross of the Order of the Bath at a colorful ceremony in Westminster Abbey.

Among those honored were

Field Marshals Viscount Montgomery and Viscount Aislinbrook. The Duke of Gloucester was installed as great master of the order.

Although not directly linked with the day's observance, a full-dress rehearsal was held in London's Hyde Park in preparation for Saturday's presentation of the King's Color to the R.A.F. With the temperature zooming to 70 degrees after an earlier thunder storm, some 200 of the parading airmen fainted from the heat.

Jet fighters roared over the city in the fly-past drill over the saluting base.

FENCING MATCH PROVED FOR 'KEEPS'; PARTICIPANT SLAIN

STOCKHOLM (Reuters)—Umar Vartia, a Finn who won a world fencing championship last year, was killed today defending his title against Mogens Luekow of Denmark.

A counter-thrust by Luekow entered Vartia's body below his arm and pierced his lungs. Vartia died en route to hospital.

Fencing experts here said the accident was rare but not unique. Finland withdrew its entire team from the competition. The Danish team will continue but without Luekow.

Extra Long Underslips
For Tall And Slim Gals

By PENNY SAVER

Calling all size sixteens, eighteens and twenties—especially if interested in extra long underslips. Very often the taller sixteen size will find that a slip fits perfectly unless worn beneath a sheer summer frock, then, the darned thing is a hand-some dozen or so inches, too short. The slips I saw this morning then, are ideal for summer wear for they are beautifully long, trimmed with touches of delightful embroidery and lace. Price tags read $4.95 and $5.95.

During the winter months I told you of tall built pyjamas for tall built gals. Course, the pyjamas then, were of flannel-ette. The newer numbers I found this morning are, trimly tailored, broadcloth. Styled with dry are the triot nylon half-slips with gobs of fluffiness at the hemline. Perfect for your strapless early summer gowns and play dresses. Sum of $5.95 pays for such a slip.

Many moons have come and gone since the opera-topped vest with slender straps have appeared on counters of milady's favorite dress shoppe.

In trico-dura... a sort of jerseyish material... the light-as-feather vests, are $1.75. In the love-lace pattern, $1.50. By the way, they won't run!

A friend of mine, not Mabel this time, told me she had hunted high, low, and around, for an egg timer, and hadn't been able to locate same.

Well, now, if my mind serves me korrekett, I saw a number of plastic timers just the other day... With clear or colored ornamentation on top and bottom of the timers, they sell away at 50 pennies each.

Luscious, cool desserts are coming into their own as this season progresses, and more and more jelly moulds take their place in the "frig."

The molds, in all pastel shades, are made of pliable plastic... the kind that bounces! To remove contents therein, merely submerge molds into warm water. To buy two molds you'll have to take 25 pennies from your change purse.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Dry Skin And Blackheads
Require Two-Way Attack

(The Friday Question Box)

Q—"I have a real problem. I have very dry skin but I also have lots of blackheads. If I use a cream on the wrinkles, the blackheads get bad. If I use soap and water, my face dries up. What can I do? I look more like 50 than 27."

A—This is a difficult problem. Usually blackheads go with an oily skin but some dry-skinned women do have this trouble. The best thing to do is to use the soap and water and complexion brush therapy on the portions of the face which have blackheads and apply the oily cream only to those spots which are free from them. For instance, you can use an eye cream at night. Blackheads are never in this area and this is where you get most lines most quickly.

The blackheads are usually most prevalent on the chin and nose and the cheeks close to the nose. This is where the oil glands are most active. Scrub these portions with soap and water and leave cream off for a while except for the eye cream which you pat about the eyes each night. After you have controlled the blackheads it would be wise to use soap and water once a day on those portions.

Q—"I have long hair down to my waist. It is very thick. I am beginning to get a few grey hairs. Tell me if I should use a rinse. I take care of my own hair; never go to a beauty parlor."

A—A rinse is applied with a brush and with cotton. I think it would be a very difficult thing to apply one on such long heavy hair. The beauty operator would have a job doing it.

Q—"What causes my hips to get so big? I am a high school student. My measurements are: Bust 37 inches, waist 27½ inches, hips 40 inches. I am 5 feet 4 inches tall. How much should I weigh? What can I do for my hips?"

A—You should weigh from 115 to 120 pounds. Take exercises for hip reduction. The question of weight distribution depends on the individual glandular set-up. Some persons are prone to heavy hips while others accumulate fat through the waist, and so forth.

Q—"What makes some people break out in a heat rash while others don't? Why does the sun-light give me a rash?"

A—Some women have more sensitive and thinner skin than others. Rashes may also come from allergies, you know. Maybe it is some article or food with which you come in contact during summer months.

Tomorrow: "Keep up with the changes that are happening to you."

MARY HAWORTH

Wife Feels Love Of Husband
Being Destroyed By His Jealousy

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: Five years ago I married Bart, who is 40. I am 30. He is serious, ever conscious of how our deportment "will look"; slightly introverted, but very well liked by a small circle of friends. I am fairly immune to other people's reactions. I enjoy them and they find me light-hearted and likeable.

Before my marriage I was popular with boys but never seriously involved. Once I spent a fortnight at the home of a boy I liked, at his mother's invitation. Photography was my hobby in those days and I have albums of snapshots including pictures of me in casual poses with boys—with an arm around my waist or holding my hand. Bart is making my life miserable on this score.

MAN TRIES HARD TO FORGET FEARS

Since our marriage not one month has elapsed without Bart's harking back to the subject in some ugly way. Between times we are happy. He says he tries hard to forget, but is haunted almost daily by thoughts of my misbehaving "as in the album." My conduct with men, including Bart, always has been above reproach and I am outraged by the injustice of his attitude. But he can't or won't believe that.

I've done my best to explain the pictures—were only innocent fun, and that he is the only man

MAN'S SUSPICIONS
ARE PATHOLOGICAL

Dear S. C., Bart's behavior as described has all the earmarks of emotional illness. His jealous suspicious bias, which worries him constantly, is a typical forerunner of paranoid confusion of mind, which can be tragically serious—and in fact incurable, in the later stages—if the patient doesn't get effective diagnostic and psychiatric help in time.

There is no real solution of the problem, for Bart or yourself, unless he recognizes that the trouble is within himself, stops blaming you for his sick thoughts and enlists psychiatric aid in seeking health. If he fails to do this, your problem then will be, how to fend with his growing irrationality; and if the situation comes to that, it will be your turn to draw on psychiatric leadership.

M. H. Mary Haworth counsels through her column, not by mail or personal interview. Write her in care of The Times.

Other speakers were Mrs. M. Campbell, "Are Animals

Dumb?"; Mrs. G. Birch, "Just Close Your Eyes"; Mrs. J. Irwin, "City of the Dead"; Mrs. J. Chadderton, "The Red Cross," two-minute impromptu speech, "What I Do on the 24th of May" was given by Mrs. M. Kelly, "The Pottery Craft" was topic of Mrs. R. Chopra.

Mesdames M. Waldon, S. Peden, A. Thompson and J. Payne acted as critics.

Friends Honor May Bride-Elect, Patricia Robertson

The pre-nuptial date-book of Miss Patricia Robertson, whose marriage to Mr. Spencer Peat takes place Saturday, has been filled with many shower party dates.

To honor the week-end bride-elect Mrs. Donald D. Wilson entertained at a kitchen shower at her Belmont Avenue home recently. On arrival the honor guest received gardenias and white carnations en corsage.

Mothers of the affianced couple Mrs. S. S. Peat and Mrs. A. Robertson were presented with corsage bouquets of Talisman roses and lily of the valley. A miniature wishing well concealed the many gifts. Games were enjoyed and refreshments served. Mrs. Robertson poured tea at a table specially decorated for the occasion.

Guests were W. I. Anderson, J. Bartlett, G. Fields, J. R. Hughes, P. Hornby, A. Kinnear, D. B. Nickerson, S. S. Pearce, A. Warrender, Misses Patricia Robertson and Anne McDonald.

Earlier in the week Mrs. S. S. Peat and her daughter, Mrs. A. E. Jones, entertained at the home of the latter, Coventry Avenue. The room was decorated with bowls of spring blooms. Miscellaneous gifts were arranged on a table.

Guests included Mrs. A. D. Robertson, Rev. and Mrs. T. Taylor, Mr. and Mrs. J. Spiller, Mr. and Mrs. J. Bartlett, Messrs. A. E. Jones, Spencer Peat and Masters Eddie, Kenny and Glen Jones.

Members of the Kisel Group, W.A., gathered at the home of Mrs. J. Rex Hughes, 814 Anderson Avenue, recently to further honor Miss Robertson. A gift of crystal and a corsage bouquet of pansies was presented to the popular honor guest.

Guests were Mesdames G. Fields, C. Bartlett, O. Carr, B. Fields, P. Collis, J. Harris, B. Johnston, R. Lovitt, J. Murray, J. Peden, A. Sedger, G. Lock, F. Wilson and Miss Sylvia Morrow.

Winning Play Presented

A successful concert was held recently in St. Ann's Academy, when the comedy, "Suitable for Charity," winning play in the C.Y.O. Drama Festival at Nanaimo, was presented.

Directed by Roderick Pearce, the cast included Eleanor Watson, Alice Genest, Ann Nanner, Frank Doyle, Michael Mansfield, Gordon Reed and Grant Reed, who won first place for best actor.

Other items on the program included a comic reading by Molly Larson, dance numbers by Velda Wille School of Dancing, selections by the Glee Club and vocal and instrumental numbers by Vivian Skinner, Monica Nash, Marjorie Mackey, Bernard Rain, Conrad and Roland Schiller, Walter Cownden, Carl Rudolph, Margaret Cameron, Douglas Ericksen, Leona Hanley, Mary Bown, Irene Nagy and Bobbie Hilton.

Jean McNaught, William Skea Married In Vestral Ceremony

The vestry of First United Church was scene of a quiet wedding ceremony, Wednesday evening, when Jean McNaught, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Joseph McNaught, formerly of this city, became the bride of William Skea, younger son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Skea, Oshawa, Ont.

A French blue imported suit of soft wool, a hat of petaloid lilac blue, and an orchid corsage bouquet was worn by the bride for the ceremony conducted by Rev. A. J. Waters. She chose as her "something old" a diamond pendant.

Attending the bride was Mrs. Frederick Manning, who wore a two-piece silk suit, of navy and beige tones, a hat of navy straw and corsage bouquet of roses.

Herbert K. Ponsford stood as best man. Following the 8.30 wedding, a reception was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. F. Manning, Ripon Road. There, the newlyweds cut a three-tier wedding cake at a table set with hand-made Chinese lace cloth and bowls of white tulips and double white lilac. Carl Penderay proposed the toast to the bride.

The honeymoon will be spent in Washington State. For traveling, the bride donned a matching topcoat over her bridal ensemble.

TODAY'S RECIPE

4-STAR LUNCHEON LOAF

One large loaf unsliced bread, melted butter or margarine, 12 oysters, evaporated milk, one 8-ounce can tomato sauce, 6 tablespoons butter or margarine, 1 green pepper, diced, 4 tablespoons flour, 1 teaspoon salt, few grains pepper, 1/4 teaspoon Ac-cent (pure monosodium glutamate), 1/4 teaspoon rosemary, 1/4 teaspoon savory, 6 hard-cooked eggs.

Remove top of loaf in one thin slice; do not remove crusts on sides and ends. With a sharp knife remove centre of loaf in one piece, leaving a shell about three-quarters of an inch thick. Cut centre into cubes and toast golden brown in moderate oven. With a star-cookie cutter, cut four stars from top slice. Brush shell and stars with melted butter or margarine and toast in moderate oven. Measure oyster liquor; add enough evaporated milk to make two cups; add tomato sauce. Melt six tablespoons butter or margarine; cook green pepper in this until soft; blend in flour, salt, pepper and Ac-cent. Add evaporated milk mixture; stir over low heat until smooth and thickened. Add oysters, rosemary and savory; cover and cook over hot water 15 minutes. Add toasted bread cubes. Place toasted bread shell on platter; surround with halves of hard-cooked eggs. Fill case with oyster mixture; cover eggs with remaining oyster mixture. Place stars on top. Serve at once. Yield: 6 servings.

hasn't a chance in the world," said Sammy Jay. Now Sammy and Chatterer had had many quarrels. They are very much alike in some ways. They dearly love to make trouble for others. Both steal eggs when they have a chance. Both delight in spoiling the hunting of others. Each has stolen acorns and beechnuts from the other. You wouldn't exactly call them friends. But right now Sammy Jay forgot all his quarrels with Chatterer, forgot that they were not and never had been friends. Had there been anything Sammy could have done at this moment to help Chatterer he would have done it.

It was just at the moment that Redtail toward Chatterer that it happened. Chatterer lost his grip! Yes, sir, Chatterer lost his grip! Down he fell, down, down, down. But he didn't fall as most folks would have fallen in his place, tumbling over and over, heels over head. No, sir, he didn't fall that way at all. He remained right side-up. He spread his four legs out sideways as far as he could, thus making himself as flat as possible. That meant that he didn't fall as fast as he would have fallen otherwise.

Down below Reddy Fox grinned so broadly that his mouth was wide open. It looked as if Chatterer might fall right into it. At the same time Redtail set his great curved claws to grab Chatterer right out of the air. Which one was going to get him for breakfast? Mrs. Chatterer closed her eyes. She didn't want to see the dreadful thing she was sure was about to happen. Blacky and all his Crow friends stopped cawing and flying about. For once they were too excited to use their tongues. There was not one looking on who was not sure that he was about to see the end of Chatterer. Strange to say they were sorry for Chatterer.

Straith Off On Speaking Tour Of North

Education Minister W. T. Straith left today on a trip through the Skeena, Omineca and Nechako districts of the province which will keep him "on the road" until June 17.

The minister will open several new schools in the northern districts, confer with parents on the education of their children, and will address public meetings on school and other government matters.

He left Vancouver by boat for Prince Rupert and first will cover the Queen Charlotte Islands. Then he will travel up the Skeena, visiting Terrace, Hazelton and Smithers.

He will visit many outlying settlements and will make side trips to Francois Lake as well as Ootsa Lake in Tweedsmuir Park. By June 8 Mr. Straith will have reached Vanderhoof and Fort St. James, and three days later will be in Prince George.

On his southern journey, the minister will call at Wells and Barkerville in the Cariboo on June 12, Merritt on June 15, Hope on the following day and will arrive back at Vancouver June 17, returning to Victoria the same day.

Meanwhile, Lands Minister E. T. Kenney will have returned to Victoria the same day. Kenney will have returned from a speaking tour through the Okanagan which followed separate trips through the interior by Attorney-General Gordon Wimer and Health Minister Douglas Turnbull.

CITY WILL ADVISE

Beach, Parks Group Membership Opposed

Central Saanich municipality will be advised by Victoria City Council that it can see no benefit accruing to Central Saanich through membership in the Victoria-Saanich Beaches and Parks Committee.

Ald. Waldo Skillings outlined organization of the committee 26 years ago. It resulted, he said, because many of the city's major parks are surrounded by Saanich territory and Saanich and city residents make joint use of the areas.

"The same situation does not apply with the city and Central Saanich," he said.

The Victoria-Saanich Beaches and Parks Committee had no idea of being a "stumbling block," he continued, but said Central Saanich would have to contribute to the upkeep of parks and beaches, to which their residents have little access. Council's reasons will be sent to Central Saanich. If the municipality still wants to participate their request will be considered again by the committee. Ald. Skillings felt the move was inadvisable at "this juncture."

Blue shadows clung to the high walls of the canyon, and through the tops of the fir trees that covered them the wind was screaming. Down... first three hundred feet... then six hundred... then seven hundred feet below foamed and surged the muddy Fraser, lost to view, sometimes, beneath a flying buttress of brown rock, but always a steady, throbbing roar far down below them.

Now and again they would pass a file of men on foot, heavily laden, tired, footsore, sweat-caked, plodding forwards... and other men on horseback, coming back... the gold dust and the nuggets on their bodies or behind them in the swaying saddles. And once, on the top of a sharp bluff, where there was a glimpse of the same road several miles ahead, they could make out no less than twenty-four straining horses pulling a big covered freight wagon up Chinaman's Bluff.

They made little attempt to talk. The jolting, and the breathless drop to some side of them made talking well nigh useless. The twisting, cavernous cleft in the earth continued. The river fell yet farther away beneath them.

Suddenly, perhaps alone of all three up in front, there came to Letty a presentiment of danger. She tried to deny the quickly-mounting apprehension. She tried to tell herself that the day was fine—the sun was hot, that all was well.

The driver was a good one. That was already obvious. The men and horses they passed upon the way seemed peaceable. And the Indians—at any rate those they saw—were too intent upon the journey to be a source of danger.

But like a black fear, the sense of peril mounted. She was tempted to speak of it to Amelia... but forced it to the back of her mind and tried to ignore it. She closed her eyes, and perhaps because of that the distant thrumming of the wind in the high crags above seemed full of warning.

Then suddenly it happened. Up round the corner of yet another bluff they went, the road but a shelf of rock carved in the cliff face. Then down they swung along the irregular incline over the other side of it. And in the shadow of a canyon, a file of three capels was approaching. At once the leading horses reared... bucked... spread their terror into the bodies of their fellows. And as at a signal, despite the efforts of the driver, all six horses bolted down.

Slavs Tormentor

CHARLESTON, S.C. (AP)—Police said a negro preacher told them he fired a shot that fatally injured a white boy Wednesday after he was taunted by a group of white boys with the cry of "nigger." The boy, Edward Davis, 13, was struck at the base of the skull with a .32-calibre bullet and died Thursday. Police said the preacher, Nathan Brown, 66, said in a statement he fired the shot.

New Zealand Dock Strike Red-Run

WELLINGTON, N.Z. (AP)—Prime Minister Sidney G. Holland's government is winning a battle to restore sea commerce, choked by a strike Feb. 15 of the Communist-angled New Zealand dockers' union.

A vigorous use of the armed forces and civilian volunteers has taken up most of the slack along the waterfront and in industries affected by sympathy strikes—freezing plants, some coal mines and coastal sea traffic.

"Behind this strike is the hand of Moscow," Holland said in an interview Wednesday. "A small minority of our trade unionists is endeavoring to paralyze trade in this country and so serve the ends of the Communist masters. The government has taken up the challenge. We are going to stick it out in this battle with Communism. There will be no retreat, no appeasement, no surrender."

Persons familiar with waterfront affairs say the strikers are being supported by cash contributions from longshoremen of Australia and the American Pacific coast.

In sympathy, the Australian Seamen's Union and Waterside Workers' Federation banned all work on New Zealand ships in Australian ports. This brought a threat of drastic action by the strongly anti-Communist government of Prime Minister Robert G. Menzies.

(Today, security officers raided the offices of the union in Melbourne and Sydney. When word of the raids became known dockers walked off 40 of 57 ships in Sydney.)

New Zealand was at the peak of its export season when the 6,775 men of the dockers' union walked off the job in a pay dispute 14 weeks ago.

Waterfield Out-Flynning Errol In Jungle Picture

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD (AP)—His pro football colleagues may never let him live it down, but Bob Waterfield is making his acting debut in the movies. And he's out-flying Errol.
Never was Flynn so brave. In "Jungle Jim in the Forbidden Land," Waterfield plays a former football hero who is downed in the wilderness during a wartime army flight. Sort of like Tom Harmon, you see.

Unlike Harmon, who came back to announce sports on television, Waterfield remains in the jungle to become the leader of a native tribe. He likes it there. But he is sought after by a lady photographer (Sheila Rayan) and Jungle Jim, who is Tarzan with his clothes on (Johnny Weissmuller).

All three become involved with a mad doctor, who is making synthetic diamonds, and the inevitable marauding natives. This problem is resolved when Waterfield tosses a forward pass with a packet of dynamite. Meanwhile, he has been throwing some passes at Miss Ryan, who also decides she likes it there in the jungle and stays with him.

EASY MONEY
I found Waterfield, the star quarterback for the Los Angeles Rams, taking the rigors of his new job quite easily.

"It's easy," he admitted. "I don't have much dialogue, so I don't have to study at home or anything. It's mostly action, and that's not difficult. Can you think of an easier way to make a few bucks?"

NEW B.C. VENTURE

Gas Hopes 'Bubble' At Lone Mountain

By HARRY YOUNG, Times Business Editor

The numerous western oil companies which form the syndicate that is preparing to search for oil and gas in the Lone Mountain area of northeastern British Columbia have some sound geological grounds for optimism that their venture will be successful.

The Lone Mountain area, which lies about 50 miles south of Dawson Creek and 125 miles northeast of Prince George, has been mapped and examined by F. H. McLearn and J. F. Henderson of the Geological Survey of Canada, and later by B. I. Nesbitt, Vancouver consulting geological engineer, who last summer surveyed an area of approximately 1,200 square miles.

Mr. Nesbitt considers the Lone Mountain area to be favorable for gas and oil because it is underlain by a great thickness of sedimentary rocks of marine origin of the type that has produced oil or gas in Alberta.

He also found that there are considerable seepages of natural gas in the area, some of them of exceptionally large size.

An analysis of one sample by Dr. G. S. Hume revealed it to contain 12 per cent ethane which suggests oil as well as gas.

Of the gas seepages Mr. Nesbitt says: "The larger ones bubble violently, holding the spout of water for as much as one foot above the surrounding water."

The Lone Mountain field, if established, would be an important addition to the gas field further north in the Peace River area. It would also strengthen the case for a northerly pipeline to the Pacific Coast such as has been outlined by the West Coast Transmission Co.

Several of the larger Alberta companies with an interest in the syndicate are Pacific, Calvan, Royal Canadian, Trans-Empe, Spooner, Jupiter, Kroy, Hargal and Willich.

As this is National Forest Conservation Week, it is encouraging to have the authority of Dr. John S. Bates, chairman of the board of Canadian Forestry Association, to state that there is no need to start wondering how long Canada's forests will last for at least another three centuries. By that time we shall be beyond caring. "There need be no such thing as exhaustion in any self-renewing resource," said Dr. Bates. "Modern arts of forest engineering can keep a timber tract continuously repeating... this can go on indefinitely and has done so in many European countries... in Canada we have a forest estate more than six times that of Norway, Sweden and Finland combined but cut as much wood each year as the whole of Canada."

Such comforting thoughts, however, are not intended to convey the impression that any slackening of the program of achieving perpetual yield, or of vigilance against fires is permissible. They are rather aimed to show how appreciative we should be of a nature which made this possible.

GRAIN

WINNIPEG

WINNIPEG (CP)—Dealings were fairly active today, particularly in oats. Prices of all grains generally moved higher, aided by advances on United States markets.

American hoppers were on both sides of the market in oats trade, with the buying outweighing the selling. Shippers and exporters were taking barley, while some export demand also was indicated in flax. American also bought and sold rye, with prices higher at the close.

Export loadings totaled only 90,000 bushels of Canadian wheat. The United Kingdom took 40,000 bushels; Belgium 50,000. Reports said a fair cargo of Canadian barley was sold overnight to the United Kingdom.

Class two wheat and L.W.A. prices were down one-quarter cent from Wednesday.

Wall St. Prices Gain But Enthusiasm Low

NEW YORK (AP)—Prices held higher today under the influence of a general recovery movement.

There was no buying surge at any time, however, and prices seemed to make headway more because of a lack of selling pressure.

Trading dwindled as the day progressed and reached a low of only 140,000 shares in the fourth hour.

At the start, the market continued Thursday's recovery with activity most pronounced in rails, steels, motors, oils and chemicals.

Higher were Studebaker, Nickel Plate, Union Pacific, Cities Service, Republic Steel, Allied Chemical, American Can, Zenith Radio, Boeing and Sears Roebuck.

Canadian issues were mixed. The high gainer was International Nickel with an increase of 1/2.

Papers held steady and construction were higher. Banks, refining oils and retail stores were about balanced. Most industrial price changes were fractional.

Base metals were mixed with price changes held to small amounts. Labrador, Quebec Marquette, Sherritt Gordon, Steep Rock and United Keno Hill advanced.

Western oils were fairly mixed. Calgary and Edmonton, Charter Oil, Central-Leduc, Federated Petroleum and Pacific Petroleum moved ahead, while Calvan Consolidated, Griddle, Royalty and Security Free weakened.

In golds, senior producers were mixed with little change while a few secondary golds slipped.

Two Bright Spots
MONTREAL (CP)—Securities again lapsed into an irregularly lower price path today.

Gains held a fair margin over losses towards the close, although a good number of issues were unchanged.

Papers, senior oils and senior metals were irregularly firmer, while beverages and carriers were narrowly mixed. Steels and banks were slightly easier.

Among losers were Brown 1st Preferred, down 1 1/2 to 109 1/2, 1 1/2 to 49 1/2, and Canadian Vickers 1 to 16.

Bright spots amongst the gainers were International Power, up 1 1/2 to 47, and McColl-Power up 1 to 26 1/2.

In mines and oils, changes were minor and were generally limited to pennies.

Federated Ahead
Vancouver.—The exchange reopened without enthusiasm after the holiday and little business was done. With the exception of Federated, which added 10 cents at 5.30, the oil market was on the downside, Atlantic at 2.90, down 10 cents; Calvan at 5.55, down 10 cents; and Britania at 3.05, down 10 cents, were the major losers.

Western Uranium remained firm among mines at 1.93, but others inclined to ease off. Silver Standard at 2.20, Estella at 1.80 and Van Rai at 65c all failed to arouse enthusiasm.

H. R. MacMillan "B" traded at 23.00 and Alberta Distillers at 3.00.

BRIDGE LESSON

by Oswald Jacoby

Ambition is a wonderful thing, no doubt, but it did in Julius Caesar and it often acts the same way on bridge players. If you have tears to shed, prepare to shed them now for poor ambitious South.

South ruffed the second heart and led the king of spades. When this held, South led the queen of spades. This was the right play for 10 or 11 tricks, but a very poor play for nine tricks.

East took the second round of spades and returned another heart, forcing South to ruff for a second time. This left South with just one trump, while East had two trumps.

South led his last trump out, hoping that the two missing trumps would fall—but of course they didn't. Now East was bound to get the lead with his last trump in time to cash two heart tricks. The defence thus made two trumps and three hearts, setting the contract.

Correct play is to abandon trumps when the king of spades is allowed to win. South begins on the diamonds and leads them until East ruffs. East's best course is to lead another heart, and South ruffs again.

Once again South must resist the temptation to lead trumps. He must begin on the clubs, cashing high cards until East ruffs again.

At this point East has only the ace of trumps and two hearts. If he leads out the trump, South

2 ♥	Pass	Pass	3 ♣

Opening lead—♥ A

South easily wins the rest with the last trump and a good diamond. If East leads a fourth heart, dummy can ruff with the eight of spades, after which South must make one of his two trumps for his ninth trick.

The whole point of the hand is that South must leave one trump in dummy as an eventual barrier against the hearts.

CARD Sense

Q—The bidding has been:

North East South West
1 Heart Pass 2 Clubs Pass
2 Hearts Pass ?
You, South, hold: Spades, J-3;
Hearts, Q-J-4; Diamonds, K-10;
Clubs, K-Q-J-9-6-2. What do you do?

A—Bid four hearts. You are willing to get to a game contract, since you have the value of an opening bid (more or less) opposite an opening bid, together with a good fit (in hearts). A raise to only three hearts is a shade timid.
